

Every Step Counts- Amaya Sahni teaches Paper Bag Making

“Education is the powerful weapon which you can use to change the world” and Sat Paul Mittal School truly adheres to this beautiful thought of Nelson Mandela. For Sat Paul Mittal School, Education is not only restricted to what is taught and learnt from the books; here education has no boundaries.

Keeping the environment in mind, Ms. Kanupriya Dawar, Class V Teacher taught the students to make paper bags from old newspapers. She explained how the plastic bags are polluting our Mother Earth. She also emphasized on how the small efforts can make a huge difference. This thing really had a deep impact on Amaya Sahni, a student of Class V-D of Sat Paul Mittal School. She promised herself to put her knowledge to the best possible use.

Soon after this, she got the opportunity to make paper bags for her friend at an event organized by the NGO, ‘There for You’. It was indeed an exhilarating experience for her. Her excitement knew no bounds when she was offered to conduct a workshop for a Book Club of Class III students. She was asked to teach them the same paper bags which she had learnt in the school. She loved being the teacher for a first time. It was a wonderful experience for her. God was kind once again as she had got a chance to make paper bags for the event, ‘Garden of Eden’. She taught the eager children there also about how to make paper bags and spread the message of omitting plastic bags from their daily lives. Her takeaway mantra was ‘Reduce, Reuse and Recycle’.

Amaya Sahni, expressed the utmost gratitude to the Principal, Ms. Bhupinder Gogia, Sat Paul Mittal School for empowering each child in every possible way. She also thanked the Junior Head, Ms. Neha Sehgal, the teachers and her mother for sharing all the knowledge and giving her the opportunities to enhance her capabilities.
