

Literary Fest- The Satyan Epiphany 2019 at Sat Paul Mittal School

The maiden literary fest, The Satyan Epiphany 2019 was organized at Sat Paul Mittal School, Ludhiana. Students and teachers participated in the fest with great enthusiasm. The event was kicked off by the broadcast of a radio show prepared by the students of the school during the morning assembly. The level of professionalism displayed and the superior quality of the program won the students' applause from all quarters.

Budding student bloggers, V-loggers and YouTubers exhibited their creative endeavors at the reception area and were commended for their efforts by their peers, teachers and visitors alike. Students dressed up as various literary characters like Harry Potter and Sherlock Holmes charmed everyone.

Various competitions such as debate, declamation and creative writing were also organized to explore the hidden talents of students. Highlight of the event, however, was the visit by Mrs.

Parambir Kaur, a well-known trilingual writer of children’s literature and Ms. Harleen Sona, a prominent Punjabi poet, writer, translator, social activist and story teller. Mrs. Parambir Kaur had an interactive session ‘Lekhak se Mulakat’, with the students and also read a story from her book. It was followed by a story telling session by Ms. Harleen Sona who involved students in her narration by eliciting response from them during her narration.

The fest concluded with Mrs. Gurpreet Kaur Chandok, Head Senior School felicitating the writers with plants.
