

Workshop held at Sat Paul Mittal School on 'Handling minor emergencies at home' by Dr. Daljit Singh

A workshop for the parents of Classes PV-II was held at Sat Paul Mittal School on the topic 'Handling minor emergencies at home'. The resource person was Dr. Daljit Singh, a well-known pediatrician and former principal DMCH, Ludhiana.

Dr. Daljit touched up some common medical emergencies like fever, nose bleeding, injuries, burns, convulsions, etc. He demonstrated and explained the techniques of handling the medical emergencies at home. He also explained the safety procedures that need to be followed while taking the child post the medical emergency to the doctor.

The session was totally interactive and the audience had actively participated in the workshop. It was followed by an exhaustive doubt clarification session wherein Dr. Daljit answered these with fervour and patience. The workshop was indeed value adding and the parents felt better equipped to handle medical emergencies at home.
