

Anayesha Budhiraja of Sat Paul Mittal School Sets Guinness World Record as the Youngest Author of a Bilingual Book Series

Anayesha Budhiraja of Class I of Sat Paul Mittal School Ludhiana has been recognised by “Guinness World Records” for being "The world’s youngest author to publish a bilingual book series (female)" at the age of 6 years 82 days.

Anayesha's journey of extraordinary accomplishments began at the tender age of 4 when she successfully recited the entire Hanuman Chalisa, showcasing her profound ability to memorize and recite Hindi mantras. This early display of her ability to master Hindi mantras laid the foundation for her future achievements. In her recently published books, Anayesha has revealed a unique artistic talent, creating illustrations that are not only visually captivating but also exhibit a profound depth of thought and imagination far beyond her years.

In addition to her Guinness World Record, Anayesha has also been recognized by the India Book of Records for her ability to recite 100 Sanskrit shlokas.

Ms. Bhupinder Gogia, Principal, Sat Paul Mittal School, extended her heartfelt congratulations to Anayesha and her parents, applauding the young author's extraordinary achievement and her dedication to excellence.
